<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Accessing reading/written work Poor memory and recall skills Recording written assessments or feedback to listening/appraising activities. Poor sequencing skills – understanding the steps modelled. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Use of symbols, larger print, colour coding, multi-sensory reinforcement. A greater emphasis on modelling and scaffolding for learning – smaller visual steps. Use word banks which include pictures. A working wall showing each lesson's focus and how successive lessons or topics link. Use the videos to show the children the expectations in a clear way, use ICT to allow them to re-watch if needed, step by step – not having to rely on their short, or long term memories. New learning fits into the framework of what the pupil already knows. Smart grouping – pairing with a more able reader/writer. Build in lots of repetition. Provide opportunities for pupils to practice the techniques in their sketchbooks before their actual piece. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Being able to use their voice expressively. Understanding and using new topic vocabulary. Lower than expected levels of expressive vocabulary 'they can't find the words' Following instructions and sequences. Levels of concentration for the plenary of the lesson. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Use different forms of communication – such as gesture – to compensate for difficulties when singing and speaking. Pre-teaching of new vocabulary prior to the lesson. Send vocabulary word mats home before the topic begins. Limit vocabulary to that which is necessary to ensure progress. Social stories. Children are allowed time to discuss the answers to questions and evaluate work with peers. Support of the child to avoid conflict/sensory overload – consider ear defenders, a quiet space to work in/an effective way for a child to communicate any distress. Ensure there is a wide range of equipment – larger paintbrushes/chunky pencils etc. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Understanding own thoughts and contrasting with those of others. Working effectively as part of a group Unable to relate and understand the reasoning behind different artists and their artwork. No resilience - feeling they aren't any good – resulting in lack of care and effort. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Working in a small group with a trusted adult for emotional support. Some children could work individually. Pre-teaching and discussing the responses to the artwork. Clear rules and expectations, consistent boundaries, rewards and sanctions. Praise the small steps and showcase their work – be proud. Encourage the children to trial and error in their sketchbooks.
